David,

I have attached draft comments for the BHHRA interim deliverable for your review. Please let me know if it would be helpful to discuss these or if you have additional comments to add. The deer tissue estimation methodology seemed to over-cook the numbers. I had reached out to Sherry Skipper recently to see if she had any recent information on a study Wendy O'Brien was involved in, but have not heard back from her. Sherry had mentioned to me that Wendy was working on a project to develop a relationship between soil and game and/or cattle when we were at a local risk assessor's lunch. Have you heard of this study? Do you have any information that may be useful? At a minimum, the calculations should probably be simplified as suggested in my comment.

I will send comments prepared for the BERA Refined ESV Technical Memorandum early next week.

Thank you,
Erin

Brian,

I have attached draft comments for the BERA Exposure Modeling Technical Memorandum for your review. Please let me know if it would be helpful to discuss these or if you have additional comments to add.

I am hoping to get the BERA Refined ESV Technical Memorandum comments to you this week, with the BHHRA interim deliverable comments to follow sometime next week.

Thank you,
Erin
